NEWBORN MILLER

ded pair and Mr. and Mrs. C. Y. Miller, whose whole-souled hospitality made everyone feel they were at home and had an interest in the auspicious occasion.

Notes

It was the first marriage service ever performed at St. Johns church at night.

It seemed to warm everyone's heart to know that the dear old grandmother, with her four score years and more had the happiness to witness the marriage ceremony of the last of her grandchildren and one to whom she is dearly and tenderly attached.

Hon. H. W. Long was greatly surprised some six weeks ago to receive a note from the intended bride, requesting him to perform the marriage ceremony, saying she had learned to love him as her Sunday school superintendent, the only one she ever had and none other could tie the hymeneal knot but the sage of Martel and the adviser and friend of every man, woman and child in that broad stretch of country. To oblige the captivating miss, Mr. Long had to be specially commissioned by the governor to perform the act.

And this reminds the reporter to say that Mr. Long has the record, in his long years of public usefulness as justice of the peace and notary, to marry more couples than any rural officer in the state of Florida, if not in any of the largest towns of the state. His record is 150 couples in four years. This is not of recent date, however, but in the dark and gloomy days of reconstruction, when there was no "parson" or justice nearer than Ocala, nor a preacher in all that section west of the St. Johns river, and on some Sunday mornings the chancel of St. Johns church would literally glitter with the expectancy of the Aryan race for matrimonial honors, or glow with the sheen of the Senegambian for matrimonial felicities.

That Mr. Long's usefulness in his community is appreciated is shown by the fact that St. Johns Sunday school never had but one superintendent, and the only time Mr. Long did not honor that exalted and inspiring position was when he served gallantly in the late civil war, or when his fellow countrymen, by their partiality, placed him for four years as Marion's county clerk. Truly this is a record worthy of mention, and is the more commendable for the fidelity and singleness of purpose with which he filled it.

Later, something on the line of the editor's troubles in running about of stumps and fallen trees, with almost Egyptian darkness about him.

Dr. Veal and Mr. Dan Barco graced the occasion with their presence.

GOOD FOR CHILDREN

The pleasant to take and harmless One Minute Cough Cure gives immediate relief in all cases of Cough, Croup and LaGrippe because it does not pass immediately into the stomach, but takes effect right at the seat of the trouble. It draws out the inflammation, heals and soothes and cures permanently by enabling the lungs to contribute pure life-giving and life-sustaining oxygen to the blood and tissues. Dr. Armstrong of Delia, Tex., prescribes it daily and says there is no better cough remedy made. Sold by William Anderson.

Tom R. Gary is the statistician of the Brick City. Yesterday he noted the fact to a Star reporter that Mr. Rufus Smith, an excellent citizen of near Oxford, and who is in the city visiting his daughters, Mrs. Borden and Mrs. Gilmore, was the first white male child born in Ocala in 1846. He served as a faithful and brave soldier in the Confederate army, entering the service at fifteen years of age.

HOW TO PREVENT COUGH

It will be good news to the mothers of small children to learn that cough can be prevented. The first sign of cough is hoarseness. A day or two before the attack the child becomes hoarse. This is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy freely as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the rough cough appears, and it will dispel all symptoms of cough. In this way all danger and anxiety may be avoided. This remedy is used by many thousands of mothers and has never been known to fail. It is, in fact, the only remedy that can always be depended upon and that is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all druggists.

COUGHING SPELL CAUSED DEATH

"Harry Duckwell, aged 25 years, choked to death early yesterday morning at his home, in the presence of his wife and child. He contracted a slight cold a few days ago and paid but little attention to it. Yesterday morning he was seized with a fit of coughing which continued for some time. His wife sent for a physician, but before he could arrive another coughing spell came on and Duckwell died from suffocation.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat, Dec. 1, 1901."
